

FRANCE SERVES NOTICE ON WORLD

Determined to Remain in Ruhr And Rhineland Until All Clauses Versailles Treaty Carried Out

Premier Poincaré in Combative Mood Says New Penalties Against Germany Are to Be Imposed Unless Full Satisfaction is Obtained—Must Be Firmly Protected Against Fresh Policies of Aggression

NEUILLY, France, Nov. 18.—(bulletin)—Raymond Poincaré, premier of France, today served notice on the world that France is determined to remain in the Ruhr and the Rhineland until all clauses of the Versailles treaty are completely executed and that the firm stand assumed by the French government in the face of military aggression is guaranteed.

The premier, who apparently was in a combative mood, added that new penalties against Germany would be imposed unless full satisfaction from Germany was obtained.

Poincaré expressed no disappointment over the failure in the negotiations for the creation of a commission of experts to determine Germany's capacity to pay. He said France was firmly resolved that she was quite capable.

"France is determined," said M. Poincaré, "not to evacuate the occupied territories until the last clause of the treaty has been carried out." He said that the French had been completely satisfied by the Versailles treaty.

France has been firm in her stand against Germany's fresh policies of aggression.

The premier, who was in the return to Germany of former French troops, said that the new penalties against Germany, the present stand of France, and the firm attitude of the French government in the face of military aggression are to be maintained unless we obtain satisfaction."

State Coal Bluff.

The speech of the premier's speech was the unveiling of a motion of censure against the premier. Today the premier stated France case more bluffed and went farther in the direction of a further occupation of Germany and which was followed by a resolution approving the government's foreign policy, has attracted much attention both in the assembly and in the foreign capitals.

The relations between France and Great Britain as related to Germany were discussed at length by the French premier in his speech.

He said that Italy would be asked to break with France, and thus deliberately to bring about a European confederation.

He said that in his speech the speech of Premier Mussolini of Italy, in the Italian parliament, was quoted, according to which Mussolini spoke against the treaty, insolent outburges to peace.

He said that France would not make them unless we obtain satisfaction.

He said that the heir to the imperial throne to return to the country. She is well-considered, with the exception of the top of the list of those guilty of the war, and the greatest number of whom are to be condemned on the part of the German government are impudent challenges to the peace of Europe.

We must be firm in the face of the treaty.

FLYING OPERATED ON
OTTAWA, Nov. 18.—Rev. Alfred Candler, moderator of the general assembly of the Protestant church of Canada, has declared that the whole working body of the church and its laymen were moving steadily toward a new life.

He was to participate in his convention that there could be no progress in the cause of the union movement in the west.

He had been acquitted last year of the assassination of M. Verovskiy, and had been sentenced to life with indignation in official circles in Moscow.

The Russian press decided to try him again.

He has received many applications for his release and asked that the trial be postponed.

He was to be tried again on the 1st of November.

In the Peace River country there is a great deal of work in progress throughout the district on

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES AT M'DOUGALL

Dr. J. H. Riddell of Winnipeg is Speaker at Morning and Evening Services

An anniversary service of McDougall Methodist church will be held on Sunday, November 18th, at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. The services will be conducted by Rev. Wesley Hodder, president of Wesley College of Winnipeg. The sermon will be delivered by Dr. J. H. Riddell of Winnipeg. His text was chosen from the New Testament, "I am the vine, ye are the branches." In this place and I know it not, leaving his remarks upon the song of the vine and the branches, descending from heaven to earth and ascending again to heaven. The sermon was most inspirational and was listened to with great interest by the large congregation.

Music for the evening service was of a high order, with a full organ, a full choir and the song service interspersed with organ voluntaries and all things by Mendelssohn. The male choir also sang, accompanied by Mrs. D. M. McDougall, "O Divine Redeemer." The evening discourse a sermon from the New Testament, "I am the vine, ye are the branches." The sermon is greater than that we taketh a city," and there was again a large congregation.

This evening an anniversary supper will be held in the hall of the church, followed by a musical program and a lecture on "Judas" by Dr. Riddell.

A ONE MAN JOB.

As Germany has cause to know, "in the nail of counsellors there is safety" for the party they are trying to collect from. Berlin would have been paying long ago if the Allied collection drive had been under the supreme command of the man who led the Allied armies to victory.

DECORATIONS IN ORDER.

City merchants want to do some street decorating at their own expense, for the Christmas season, and have asked permission of the Mayor. That is likely to be granted if the question of responsibility for damages can be satisfactorily arranged. Decorations would certainly seem to be in order. With the harvesting of the big crop, the tapping of a real oil reservoir at Wainwright, and the general brightening of the prospects for this part of Canada, some collective expression of the hope and expectation of better times is appropriate, and would help to "make the dream come true." If private enterprise is willing to do the work and stand the cost, it is to be hoped that no serious hindrance to the proposal will be found.

A NEW PLAN.

Mayor Duggan is closing his term as chief magistrate by presenting to the citizens a plan for reconstructing the machinery of civic administration in a somewhat radical way. Because the changes suggested are drastic they are not likely to be made forthwith. But the scheme deserves attention on the part of the taxpayers. Two years in the mayoralty must be taken to qualify the occupant to speak with knowledge as to the working of the present system, and to fit him to make proposals for readjustments which would meet difficulties, further efficiency or cut down expense, or do all three. It was no part of the obligation of the retiring Mayor to prepare any such plan, and the thanks of the citizens are due him for having gratuitously made a study of the subject and professed them the benefit of his experience and the conclusions he has come to.

FEELING OUT THE ALLIES.

A semi-official statement has been issued at Berlin denying that the Government has repudiated the Treaty of Versailles or intends to do so. As the repudiation story was also said to be based on "semi-official" information, the newspaper reader is thus left to take his choice. There is nothing uncommon in this. It is getting to be quite the usual procedure in relation to proceedings at Berlin. The dispatch-writer at the German capital is not restrained in his liberty of action by the traditions of responsible journalism. If Stresemann will not say what he does or intends to do the obliging correspondent says it for him. If the guess turns out to be wrong, or if the chanceller finds that the projected line of policy is likely to make trouble, the report is re-submitted in a subsequent denial, also labelled "semi-official." The Government is thus enabled to keep the world flooded with rumors and "feelers," and to find out how far it is safe to go in the way of ignoring its obligations. These "semi-official" thrills which come over the cables so frequently may not be inspired, but they look like it.

THE TARIFF FIGHT IN BRITAIN.

Mr. Baldwin is turning to political account whatever interest may have been aroused in Great Britain by his proposals to give preferential treatment to certain products imported from British Dominions. Parliament has been dissolved, and the electors will be asked to say, by their votes, whether they wish to adhere to the free trade policy, modified by the remaining imposts imposed during war time, or whether they will authorize the Government to erect a tariff wall about the homeland of Cobden and Bright's gaps left in it through which the specified kinds of overseas products may enter at lower rates.

The tariff campaign follows logically and necessarily upon the preferential proposals. Without the wall there cannot be the gaps. The protectionist cause is thus cleverly linked up with the solidarity and development of Empire trade. Canadian readers of old country papers may expect to find in them during the ensuing weeks appeals somewhat similar to those which are addressed to Canadian voters around election times. The Englishman will no doubt be told that unless he pols his ballot for the tariff he will be voting to put himself out of a job and to give foreigners the trade which should go to his kith and kin across the sea. The stage is all set for a campaign of vigorous flag-waving in the old lands, with imputations of treason for all who fail to uphold the Government that wants to make the Empire prosperous by shutting out of Britain commodities of a dozen or so kinds of foreign origin. But before he gets too wildly excited at the prospect the Canadian reader may recall that Premier Baldwin is not proposing to establish any preferential treatment for wheat and beef, from this or any other British country. Such Canadian products as will be affected by his program, as fruit and canned fish, are of more or less local importance, and any increased demand for them may be caused by the exclusion of foreign competition will not greatly affect the gross volume of our trade with Britain or the conditions of our people generally.

One satisfactory feature is that the proposal that Britain reverse its trade policy of nearly a century stranding was made at home. The Baldwin scheme is primarily designed to sell British goods in the Dominions, not to all Dominion products in Great Britain. It did not originate in the Dominions. It is not a proposal to appeal for a "quid pro quo" for the tariff preference which the Dominions concede to goods originating in Great Britain. Premier King has kept scrupulously clear of any appearance of a debate to intermingle with the fiscal policy of the old lands, and the delegates to the Conference seem to have generally taken the same proper attitude of neutrality. That stand will be viewed with approval in Canada and elsewhere. Much as they hope to enlarge their selling and buying to and from the people of Great Britain, Canadians have no desire to dictate, or try to dictate, what the trade policy of Great Britain shall be. That is the exclusive business of the people of the United Kingdom, and should be settled by them according as they think to be their own best interests. The course of the Canadian representatives in the matter has been correct, and deserves recognition and commendation.

An interesting early result of the revival of the Chamberlain scheme is that the two factions of the Liberal party have sunk their differences and joined forces to defend free trade. They may not win, but with Asquith and Lloyd George heading the fight on the fiscal issue it is a safe guess that before Mr. Baldwin gets his protectionist platform endorsed by the voters he will find that there is a lively skirmish going on

MISREPRESENTED

Theatregoers have been somewhat shocked at Debbie theatre for the last few nights by a slide on the screen which purports to be "Theatres in the United Kingdom. We don't believe this is true. We are told that the slide is a misrepresentation of the facts. The slide, it is said, was put up by the Fowl Fupper and we are convinced that all who attend the supper will find advertising on the slide to be misleading.

THE PREMIER IN LONDON

From Canada. Mr. Mackenzie King, with good judgment, selected the time to give his speech on the tariff. He did not make that most suitable opportunity of fully and frankly exposing the new procedure which has caused some apprehension in Canada as well as in the United Kingdom. The speech was a history of the Canadian tariff, and at Canada club dinners during the last 25 years he has been made and the Canadian press is certainly familiar with the speech.

In regard to the present British Empire situation, Mr. Mackenzie King showed that the matter is one of purely domestic concern to the citizens of Pacific Canada. He did not say that the Canadian tariff was not as important as that of any other part of the British empire on matters of vital concern to other parts of the empire "without the full knowledge of the people."

His speech was noteworthy also for the broad and frank manner in which he spoke of the "feelers" and "feelers," and to find out how far it is safe to go in the way of ignoring its obligations. These "semi-official" thrills which come over the cables so frequently may not be inspired, but they look like it.

GOOD SOCIETY

Social standing is almost instant.

As soon as a boy learns to walk he can stand and keep his balance. Being a good boy is not so easy. It is a matter of time and practice. Unfortunately for him, he is never likely to learn to walk. Most people are. To him they usually mean people who have a good social standing and belong to golf clubs. Sometimes these are better people, sometimes not.

The fact that they have aunts and belong to golf clubs has nothing to do with it.

This is the reason why the society that will do them the most good, improve them the most, and give them the most pleasure, is the society that will do them the most good, improve them the most, and give them the most pleasure.

WINTER RESORTS IN CANADA

More and more Canadians who spend their holidays in winter time are coming to realize that Canada offers pleasant surroundings for both winter and summer holidays. Photograph shows Parliament Building in Ottawa, one of the many winter resorts in the Dominion, where many persons from other parts of the Dominion spend their winter holidays.

The "Winter in Canada" more and more is having a decided effect upon those Canadians who have been in the habit of spending their holidays in warmer climates than are found in the maritime provinces. The Canadian National railways city ticket offices at Waterloo, Ontario, are receiving many inquiries directed to the great winter resorts in the Dominion of Canada than ever before are looking for.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

Mrs Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ontario, writes and tells you of the experience and benefit she derived from Burdock Blood Bitters.

Some few months ago I was trying to get rid of a pimple on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ring-worms and got nothing but trouble to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no sleep.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I took one bottle and felt quite a relief and by the time I had taken three bottles I was well again.

I cannot praise B.B. enough and I hope every afflicted person will get the same benefit I received.

Burdock Blood Bitter is manufactured by the Millbank Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.
